SAY GOODBYE TO MESSY CABLES

DVDO AIR^{3C}

60GHz WirelessHD® Adapter

The Air^{3C} connects your audio/video (AV) gear to your TV wirelessly, with the performance that you expect from a cable. Transmit full High-Definition (HD) audio and video, while drawing power from the TV and AV source.

- Transmit more than 30 feet in room without any interference
- Deliver uncompressed HD content
- HDMI cable-like reliability
- Easy installation and powered right from your TV (DIY)
- Auto-Beam steering finds the best path
- Self-healing connection

No more clutter

All the reliability of an HDMI cable without the messy wire. Place the receiver on top of the TV or hide it behind for the ultimate clean look.

Free from interference

A 60GHz frequency signal means no interference from other wireless devices in the home.

Easy to install

Air^{3C} can be plugged into TVs or source players, while drawing power from your TV. It's simple to install and configure with ten different mounting options for the perfect fit.

A proven technology

Air^{3C} is based on the Air³[™], which is installed in thousands of homes and businesses worldwide. Stream video, cable/satellite, Blu-Ray, and even Internet content – up to 1080p60, 3D, and 7.1 surround sound.

Great for gaming

“Zero latency” means no delay between your gaming console and the big screen.
